Excerpt: . . . general commerce of the country, cannot be regarded as the concern of the six states--they are of national importance. If the fish captured in these lakes were consumed along their shores I grant that the states would have no special claim upon the general government for taking part in maintaining such fisheries, or helping in any way to their re-establishment. This was the condition of affairs once; but with the modern facilities of rapid communication and improved methods of transportation, their product is marketed all over the country, and for that reason the states bordering the great lakes have, in my judgment, as good a right to assistance from the general government, in the directions I shall presently mention, as the fisheries of the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans. Our lake fisheries are not to be compared in extent and value to those...
